

U.S. Military Bases in Foreign Nations by Region

The data below is compiled from the "Department of Defense Base Structure Report, Fiscal Year 2007 Baseline" - DOD's official listing of its real property inventory in foreign nations. The data used for this fact sheet, is the latest available data, which is current as of September 30, 2006.

As noted from the Base Structure Report, our fact sheet also uses DOD's classification of a base or "site" as either - "small," "medium," "large," or "other," depending on its Plant Replacement Value (PRV). According to the Department of Defense, PRV refers to how much it would cost to replace the onsite physical structures of existing bases. More specifically, PRV is the cost of replacing the current physical plant (facilities and supporting physical infrastructure) using today's construction costs (labor and materials) and standards (methodologies and codes). For instance, a "large" facility is determined by DOD as having a PRV greater than or equal to $1.640 billion. Definitions for "small" and "medium" facilities can be found within the General Footnotes section, at the end of this table series.

According to DOD, "other" sites are those that are smaller than 10 acres and have a PRV of less than $10 million. Please note that the calculations for the tables below do not include sites classified as "other." Because of their large number, their inclusion would complicate our display of different data we believe more meaningful. Following the tables of individual country listings, however, is a table which includes the total number of "other" sites worldwide.

The following tables illustrate U.S. military sites by region, in ranking order from highest Plant Replacement Value (PRV) per region to lowest PRV per region. Grouped regionally, Europe has the highest collective PRV ($65,895.8M), followed by East Asia and the Pacific ($53,104.0M), then North Africa, Near East, and South Asia ($3,584.5M), then the Western Hemisphere ($2,695.7M), and lastly Sub-Saharan Africa ($365.1M).

We found during our research that the Department of Defense categorizes U.S. military personnel ambiguously. There is no specific indication in the Base Structure Report as to whether all active duty or reserve components located at or associated with each facility in any way are actually displayed. In addition, temporary deployments are not accounted for in this data and contract personnel are only listed to the extent that they are "known," and/or if the data is "available." Most importantly, the country totals for military personnel indicated in the Base Structure Report do not match those listed in other Department of Defense reports on military personnel deployments by country and region. The most recent public data for U.S. military manpower overseas is the "Active Duty Military Personnel Strengths by Regional Area and by Country," listing from June 30, 2007. It is available at: <http://siadapp.dmdc.osd.mil/personnel/MILITARY/history/hst0706.pdf>.

We have listed general and site specific endnotes to complement the data in the tables that follow. We also provide links to various reports, studies, and other general information to provide additional resources. To view the 2007 Department of Defense Base Structure Report from which the data in the table below are extracted, go to http://www.defenselink.mil/pubs/BSR\_2007\_Baseline.pdf.

The "available" Department of Defense data, ranked by region of highest plant replacement value, is as follows:

Endnotes:

General (source: http://www.defenselink.mil/pubs/BSR\_2007\_Baseline.pdf)

1. Large Site = Total PRV greater than or equal to $1.640B
Medium Site = Total PRV less than $1.640B and greater than or equal to $875M
Small Site = Total PRV less than $875M and greater than 0
Other Site = sites that do not meet criteria of at least 10 acres OR at least $10M PRV

Please note that the Department of Defense defines other sites as "PRV equal to 0 (Zero) – primarily land records" on p. 22 of the Base Structure Report. The same report however, lists a completely different definition for other sites on p. 77-96, the exact pages from where the figures for this fact sheet were extracted. The latter definition indicates that other sites are those "that do not meet the criteria of at least ten

(10) Acres OR at least $10M PRV.” For the purpose of this fact sheet, was used the criterion detailed on p. 77-96 to determine the number of “other sites.” For this reason, the totals listed in our tables are not an exact match to the total figures indicated on p. 22 of the BSR.

2. Military Personnel identifies all known military personnel authorized for the site or installation. Includes Active Duty, Guard, and Reserve Personnel.
3. Civilian Personnel identifies all known Department of Defense civilian personnel authorized for the site or installation, regardless of service affiliation. Note: civilian numbers for the Navy represent assigned personnel not authorized.
4. Other Personnel identifies all known other civilian personnel identified for the site, including personnel paid from Nonappropriated Funds (NAF), Foreign Nationals (direct hire) at foreign locations, and, if available, any full-time contractor personnel, regardless of Service affiliation.
